She gave me some beautiful jumbles and a cranberry tart; then I got a banana and an orange off the sideboard--just what I would eat for dessert if I were there to dinner, and I carried them all out to the arbor. I thought I would better put on my thickest coat and cap, because it wasn't so very warm. I put the dolls up on one seat, in a row, and gave them some bits of jumble to keep them quiet, while I sewed on my handkerchief. It was very pleasant there, because the sun shone in so bright, and the wind didn't blow much that day. When I had almost finished the handkerchief, I was hungry,...
