Excerpt: . . . are usually published in a scientific journal as a supplement dedicated to the topic of the workshop. Formal bibliographies are often prepared for the workshops in conjunction with the National Library of Medicine. The bibliographies serve as a resource for researchers and for workshop participants, to inform them in areas that are related to their specialty, but distinct from it. Current ODS publications are accessible through the ODS Internet web site and are listed in Appendix E. Databases Databases are computerized systems of information that can be accessed and searched for specific topics. For example, databases exist that provide scientific literature citations, DNA and protein sequences, chemical carcinogens, as well as administrative databases of goods and services. Reports can be generated by searching the database, for example, to produce a list of publications or clinical trials dealing with a specific topic. Congress mandated that the ODS collect and compile databases of federally funded research...
