The same day the judge and commissioners made their third visit in the French houses to obtain food to last until the arrival of the barge, which was shortly expected. June 2d. Thursday, 2d of June, it being Trinityday, a few shots were fired by the Indians who were guarding the neighborhood of the fort. But this was so tritling that the English did not return them, knowing well it would be using powder to no purpose. During the night, an English traders assistant who was among the Ottawas, ran away quite naked, and came to the fort, bringing a letter sent by Mr. Campbell, a prisoner in the camp, to Mr. Gladwin. This letter hadbeen found by the Hurons among the spoils of the conductors of the barges. These brought it to Pontiac, who...
