Excerpt: . and that honesty of purpose and unselfish activity are necessary for true human progress and the attainment of real happiness.--Your obedient Servant, St G. Lane Fox, F.T.S. London, October 5. A good deal of anxiety was nevertheless felt among some persons who had been greatly interested in the reports of Mme. Blavatsky s occult achievements in India, as to how far the letters might be genuine, and, finally, the Society for Psychical Research decided to send out to Madras one of their own members willing to undertake the investigation on the spot of all the transactions to which the letters referred. Mr Richard Hodgson, the gentleman in question, went out to India in November 1884, and stayed there till the following April. On his return he gave his Society a report that was altogether unfavourable to Mme. Blavatsky, and the committee of the...
